CAPTURES THE PRIZE

Company C Wins in Competitive Drill of Cadets.

CLOSE OF A MEMORABLE CONTEST

Ten Thousand People Applaud the Banner Command.

LOYALTY OF THE ROOTERS

All is joy at the Central High School, while gloom pervades the domain of the Eastern, Western and Business Schools. To express the situation in the words of the adherents of the winning company. In the annual company competitive drill of the regiment of High School cadets: "Hip-ty hop, hip-ty hop, Company C is right on top."

Capt. Trickey, Company G.

And Company C is on top. Amid the plaudits of fully ten thousand admiring constituents, Capt. Washington's command was last evening formally declared by a board of judges consisting of three officers of the United States army, the best drilled of the eight companies constituting the regiment.

There was a moment of awful suspense when the judges appeared on the stand to make known the identity of the winning company. The regiment was formed in line, extending entirely across the spacious grounds of the Washington Base Ball Club. Capt. Scott, chairman of the board of judges, in a whisper, made known the winning company to Col. Gunnell, commanding the regiment. The latter in turn gave a whispered order to his adjutant, Capt. Merwin, directing him to summon the fortunate organization to the front and center. With the utmost calmness Capt. Merwin proceeded directly toward the interval between the 1st Battalion and the 2d Battalion of the regiment. Reaching a point on a line with the captain, he paused for an instant.

The Fateful Moment.

The shouting that had been in order all afternoon ceased entirely. It was an instant of great anxiety. Should Capt. Merwin turn to the right the hopes of the Central High School would be blasted, for the prize would go to one of the other schools. Should he turn to the left the Eastern, Western and Business Schools would be out of the race. Many hearts almost ceased beating, not only those of the cadets, but of their friends among the spectators. The uncertainty lasted, by actual time, not longer than a second or two, but it seemed hours to those who were so deeply concerned. Capt. Merwin made a sharp turn to the left and that ended matters so far as the Eastern, Western and Business Schools were concerned. There was a voluminous, doleful "Oh!" uttered by the "rooters" for Companies E, F, G and H, while a spontaneous gladness shook passed the lips of those who were backing Companies A, B, C and D.

Capt. Merwin approached Company B, but did not stop. There were more "Oh's" from the grand stand. The regimental adjutant also gave Company D the go by. The "Company A" folks began wishing with all their might that he would do likewise in regard to C and keep on to the right of the regimental line, while the knees of Capt. Murphy and of the members of Company A were trembling just a little. But Capt. Merwin did nothing of the sort. He halted squarely in front of the center of Company C, saluted Capt. Washington, presented the compliments of the colonel commanding, and directed him to march his company to the front and center.

Then There Was a Shout.

Then a shout rent the air. Never, not even at the most exciting stage of the closest base ball contest since the Wash-

THE COLORED CADETS

Annual Competitive Drill of the High School Companies

AT THE NATIONAL BASE BALL PARK

The Instructors Report Satisfactory Progress in Details.

THE COMPANY ROSTERS

The annual company competitive drill of the colored High School cadets will take place Monday afternoon next at 4 o'clock, at the National Base Ball Park. This is an event of much importance to the cadets, and their friends and "rooters" will be out in force to urge the cadets on to victory. The easy swing and careful alignment of the battalion, as it appeared in the jubilee pageant under the command of Maj. Leon Turner, showed careful instruction and gave promise of a close and interesting contest for the handsome teachers' medal and the much prized ribbons, to be awarded Monday afternoon.

Capt. Trickey, Company G.

Provision has been made for ten thousand spectators, and if the display of company colors and insignia is to be considered the competitors are not likely to want for enthusiastic support. There are but two companies in the battalion this year, because of the large number of self-supporting pupils who cannot afford to devote the necessary time to drills. They do not miss the excellent effects of the discipline and physical exercises, however, for they constitute an unbroken squad and receive regular attention from the military instructor, Maj. Arthur Brooks, who commands the 1st Separate Battalion, District of Columbia National Guard.

Progress in Drill.

The cadets have made excellent progress in mastering the details of military drill and deserve commendation for their willingness to attend volunteer drills to make up for the loss of time occasioned by the long, severe winter.

Captains Brown and Jackson have steadily worked their way from the ranks to the present positions as company commanders. They are capable officers, pretty evenly matched in scholarship, and are ably seconded by their junior officers, so that the competition will make up in spirit what it lacks in length.

Much good feeling exists among the members of the rival companies, and the excellent control exercised at all times by the officers, in the estimation of their instructors, commanded by Capt. Shannon, have in sight. The Eastern High School delegation, composed of the following officers, arrived during the drill of Company G, commanded by Capt. Trickey, which was the last company of the regiment to maneuver in the field.

Capt. G. A. Birch, Company H.

As each company completed its drill its captain and lieutenants were loaded down with huge bouquets. As stated, there was an intermission while the victors were given with vim. All Washington was made aware that the High School folks had been engaging in some sort of an affair.

The annual company competitive drill of the regiment for the school year 1898-1899 will go down into history as one of the most successful contests in the history of the noted regiment of High School Cadets.

Roster of Company C.

The roster of the winning company is as follows: Company C—Captain George A. Washington, First Lieutenant Carroll Paul and Second Lieutenant J. W. Brinkerhoff, Sergeants W. H. Peter, James Churchill, P. Wilson, W. J. Young, W. Jones, Corporals Shepard, Bremer, Biell, Hillebrand, Parker and Privates Hartman, Cora, Du-Williams, Watts, Homrighaus, Oram, Hillard, Barker, Paschall, Heath, Oram, Williamson, W. Shepherd, Jackson, Roberts, Gill, Graves, Hillyer, Harvey, Peatrons, Hutton, Welsh, Mills, Saffold, Knapp, Miller, Washington, Root, Towles, Newton, E. Breton, Davis, Walker, Breach and Parker.

Pygmalion and Galatea.

Comedy to be Presented by Students of Washington College.

The pupils of the school of elocution of Washington College, Eckington, will present tonight the mythological comedy, "Pygmalion and Galatea." The announcement to the effect that the comedy would be played last night was a mistake. The play will be under the direction of Miss Webb, instructor of the school. The most talented of the students have been selected for the cast.

The college commencement exercises will begin Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Rev. George S. Duncan of the Eckington Presbyterian Church will preach the baccalaureate sermon in the college hall. Monday morning at 11 o'clock the class day exercises will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening a musical program will be rendered by the pupils, under the direction of Prof. Rich, Mrs. Strouther and Miss Proctor. The graduation exercises will occur Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when the following young ladies will receive diplomas:

Lansburgh's, 13th and F.

"Your Credit is Good."

Ever Deal at Lansburgh's?

There are many reasons why Lansburgh's is the most popular furniture store in town, besides the fact the lowest prices are always to be found here. For one, it is the only firm in town that sells high-class goods on credit at literally cash prices—and the very lowest of cash prices at that. Then, again, the salesmen are not only courteous and attentive, but they are thoroughly competent and experienced. They can offer you real assistance in choosing furniture by their suggestions. They have good taste, too. You are made to feel at home in this store in every way. We do our utmost to make everything pleasant for you. Credit buyers receive just as much consideration as cash buyers, and we make terms that are perfectly satisfactory to you.

100 Special Bargains.

We are offering a full century of special bargains for Monday, of which this table is a fair sample. Made of fine quartered oak, or else a beautiful mahogany finish. Regular piano polish finish. Beautifully turned legs, terminating in brass claw feet. Top is 18x30. Shaped underside. It's just as handsome a Table as you could find. We have never known it to be sold at less than $3.75 anywhere else. Our price for Monday.....
